OBSERVATIONS

Hurtin' Bines.

Don't you know you're hurtin' bines?" said the red fox to the hound. "When instead of sleepin' peaceful you come moppin', snuffin' round? What's the good of all your barkin'?" What's the use of all this fuss? What were chickens ever made for if they weren't made for us?" "Can't you see you're hurtin' bines?" said the South Sea savage chief to the fearless missionary who was sitting on the reef. "I have seven white men captured that I want to sell as meat!" What were white folks ever made for if they weren't made to eat?" "Don't you know you're hurtin' bines?" said the robber in the jail while the stubborn sheriff listened to his almost fearful tale. "These who make and sell the fiddles don't you see, are losin' trade! While you foolishly confine me where no get-aways are made!" "Can't you see you're hurtin' bines?" said the devil to the man who was steadily progressing on the live-and-let-plan. "You are keepin' men from fallin' who, if sorely pressed, might fall! Why, if all men do as you do I would have no job at all!" —Chicago Record-Herald.

GOOD ROADS—A movement was started at Eminence on Friday last which promises to result in great good to the industrial development of Kentucky. Men from all over Kentucky gathered at that place and the first good roads congress was organized and it was clearly demonstrated by the interest shown that the outside of good roads for Kentucky has caught on and will receive the attention which it deserves from the citizens of the State. Gov. Willson and other representative citizens were present and took a hand in the movement. A temporary organization was formed and within a few days Gov. Willson will issue a call to every county in the state to send delegates to a meeting to be held at Louisville on September 14th for the purpose of forming a state organization. Washington county should join heartily in the movement and be prepared to take a hand when the time comes to help the thing along. For certainly the people of this county are fully alive to the great value of good roads to the community. That state and federal aid is necessary for the maintenance of good roads in the counties has become a recognized fact. With that end in view the question of a constitutional amendment will be submitted to the voters of the state at the election this fall. There are three amendments to the Constitution, which, if passed by the vote of the people, should result in good roads. The first of these amendments allows a county to become indebted for 5 per cent of the assessed valuation of its property, thereby furnishing a means of obtaining two and a half times the present amount of money that can be spent. The second of the amendments raises the limit of the State and county taxation from 50 cents on the $100 to 70 cents. The third amendment gives State aid to road-builders. All three of these things are impossible under the present Constitution. The Constitution must be altered in this respect. Of these propositions the last mentioned should at least meet with the approval of every citizen. That the state should lend to the counties the building of roads will be a popular movement. What makes it more important that this amendment should carry is the fact that there is a likelihood of the U. S. Government passing measures making appropriations for aiding in building country roads, but before any state may avail itself of such aid it will be necessary for the state government to be in a position also to contribute to the various counties in the road-building operation. The people certainly realize the value of good roads to the state and to a county and they should stand ready to help along all good roads movements.

Prevention of Cruelty to Animals here in Springfield and Washington county. The average man is strangely careless of the comfort and even though he may be its owner will often abuse it until its life pays the forfeit for its owners ignorance or indifference. The cruel treatment of horses is especially noticeable this hot weather and reports of the deaths of horses which have been overworked are not infrequent. In nine cases out of ten where the cause of these deaths is investigated it will be found that it was due to the carelessness or cruelty of the owner or driver who had urged the poor brute beyond its strength. It is not an infrequent sight to see horses lame or with great sores on their sides worked along on roads or on farms. In some communities where a Humane Society has a representative the owners of such animals would be arrested and prosecuted. There are laws against such treatment of dumb animals, but the average citizen or even a civil officer hesitates to prosecute his neighbor unless it becomes his special duty to do so.

The Remedy That Does "Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others promise but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. R. Benson, of Auburn Centre, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieved only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at Haydon & Robertson's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A special term of Circuit Court will convene here Monday to dispose of the following cases: T. L. Payne vs. L. & N. Ben Reynolds vs. Royer Wheel Co., Mrs. Louise Mattingly vs. Mrs. Joe H. Johnson, etc. Clarence Shipp vs. Carson J. Shipp, Kate Gardner vs. Richard Gardner, Laura Russell vs. Lela Riley, etc., and other cases that are agreed on.

The Barks Spring Distilling Co., near Loretto, has commenced their operations in blackberry wine. They expect to manufacture this season 250 to 300 barrels of wine. This enterprising company pays to the pickers of berries from $1.00 to $1.50 a season, thus furnishing food and raiment for a large number of poor people, besides supplying the market with a most pure and wholesome wine. It is easy to understand what an advantage such an establishment is to any community, but it is almost impossible to estimate its blessings to the poor people whose labor it remunerates. Black berries are very plentiful this season and the market price is 25 cents per water bucket.

Starved to Death—It is what could be truly said of many children who die. They have worms, poor little things—they don't know it and you don't realize it if your child is cross, fretful, partly complexioned and loses weight for no apparent reason, give it White's Cream Vermifuge, you will be surprised at the results and how quickly it picks up. Sold by Red Cross Drug Store.

Kidnapped by Riders.

H. H. Hinesville, Ky.—Some of the soldiers who had been stationed in Trigg county came here last night and left, it is believed, for Cobb Caldwell county, where it is likely a permanent camp will be established. The latest depredations in Western Kentucky are reported to have taken place in the territory between Ceresian Springs and Cobb.

A New Move

It seems the Democrats are making a new move in regard to the colored voter. They are giving them a special invitation to come over and vote with them. This certainly carries out the saying that a drowning man catches at a straw. The Democrats it seems have at last found out that "cussing" the colored voter does no good, and now they will try the begging act—but it will avail them nothing. This will do you no good Mr. Democrat, for the colored man has not forgotten the hard things you have said about him in the past and will vote as he has been taught—the Republican ticket.—Columbia Spectator.

A Contented Woman

is always found in the same house with Ballard's Snow Liniment. It keeps every member of the family free from aches and pains. It heals cuts, burns and scalds and cures rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and all muscular soreness and stiffness. 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Red Cross Drug Store.

The Defeat of Carmack

Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, is undoubtedly one of the greatest speakers of not the very greatest in the South. In the Senate of the United States he had no superior on the Democratic side, yet he had been defeated for the nomination for Governor by a man of ordinary ability after a joint discussion covering over half the counties. If the contest had been entirely upon the merits of the two men Carmack would have been overwhelpingly nominated, but Senator Carmack was running as the advocate of State wide prohibition as against local option as advocated by his opponent. This tells the story of his defeat. The people of the South believe in local option they believe in the right of every community to decide whether there shall be saloons, but they do not believe in prohibition. The defeat of Carmack emphasizes this fact. While it is in no sense a rebuke to temperance it is a blow to making it a political issue.—E. W. News.

Will Leave Lebanon.

George G. Hall, district manager of the Cumberland Telephone Company which owns the plant in this city, was here Wednesday and announced to members of the city council that this company would not be a bidder for the telephone franchise which is to be offered for sale Monday. Mr. Hall stated that the company he represents did not wish the city authorities to think that it was acting arbitrarily in the matter. He said that they had a uniform schedule of rates, and that the franchise which is to be sold here did not allow these rates and for that reason they did not wish it. "We never dispose of a plant to another company when we leave a city," said Mr. Hall, "and we are ready to begin the work of tearing down our plant here next week, if the city council directs." A few weeks ago the company was ordered to leave

This certainly carries out the saying that a drowning man catches at a straw. The Democrats it seems have at last found out that "cussing" the colored voter does no good, and now they will try the begging act—but it will avail them nothing. This will do you no good Mr. Democrat, for the colored man has not forgotten the hard things you have said about him in the past and will vote as he has been taught—the Republican ticket.—Columbia Spectator.

Bud Peebles' Story to a Tourist of How New Mexican Cowboys Punished an Apache Brave for the Murder of an Army Captain.

Bud Peebles was in Hermosa, N. M., a short time ago and related in his picturesque manner to a tourist how he and his companions found an Apache brave who had been treacherously slain by the soldiers.

The cowboy, at its number, had surprised and surrounded him on the bank of the river. Mr. Peebles tells the story:

"For about ten seconds he sat motionless on his pony, one arm dangling and bleeding, while some blood-mad men looked on with a stare. I shudder to think of the scene."

"IT WAS SHORE FULL OF HATE."

lower one hand and give an eagle feather out of that war bonnet. He never moved. Another boy on the side takes him across the chest and gives a couple of bear claws from his neck. At that the Indian sits up, straight and starts his pony on a slow trot, and as he starts he begins to sing a death song. It was a wild, mournful sort of a chant, wailing up and down in a long wail.

"When he comes to the edge he doesn't aim to make a stop. It hurts his pride to hesitate, but the pony sniffs them and swings off. The Indian pulls his head around and puts it to the pony proper with his heels. The Woman Refugee From Russia Tells Terrible Story of Brother's Depravity in Court—Seeks Home For Her Deserted Babe.

Olya Karmoff, a Russian refugee, who bore a heavy burden for years, whom she sought a temporary home, told a story in the children's court in New York that shocked even the court officials there. It was in brief that she had been wedded and deserted by her own brother, who had stolen all her savings of years.

Mr. Karmoff said she fled to this country with her father, who was a revolutionary, when she was very young. At this time her brother, who she had only once seen in her life, was an officer in the Russian army, and when she left her native land he was in a far-off part.

Her father took rooms in Grand street, New York, and taught music and languages until his death. Then she girl needed a home on the side and began to take lodgers.

At the home one day appeared a dapper looking young man, who rented a room and almost immediately began to pay court to his young landlady. When he displayed a uniform and told her he was a deserter from the Russian army to avoid being sent to the Siberian mines her sympathy was his. When he asked her to marry him she consented. The soldier gave his name as Constantine Pauloff and told Miss Karmoff that he knew her brother well.

"They were married in the Greek church," Miss Karmoff said, and when she was asked to marry him she was told she was a deserter from the Russian army, and when she left her native land he was in a far-off part.

Her father took rooms in Grand street, New York, and taught music and languages until his death. Then she girl needed a home on the side and began to take lodgers.

March Through Fire

Six thousand Hindus and a select few English officials have recently witnessed in the neighborhood of Madras a remarkable religious ceremony, the principle actors being Shrivastava, a sect of Brahmins.

The festival was called "the march through fire," and it was appropriately enough named.

The procession was in honor of Brahma and Vishnu, the gods of fire and water.

Preparations for the ceremony had been going on for a month. A trench twenty-three feet long and sixteen feet deep was dug, and in it a fire was kindled. At sunrise forty fanatics, who were to demonstrate their devotion to Brahma, slowly marched around the furnace bearing the various idols. The Shrivastava were clothed in yellow tunics, and without hesitation entered the fire trench singing a hymn, the refrain of which was "Govinda! Govinda!"

After walking this artificial Gehenna three times they emerged apparently none the worse for their experience, and have established an unassailable claim for sanctity among their people.

Heat prostrates the nerves. In the summer one needs a tonic to offset the customary weather Nerve and Strength depressant. You will feel better within a few days after beginning to take such a remedy as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Its prompt action in restoring the weakened nerves is surprising. Of course you won't get entirely strong in a few days, but each day you can actually feel the improvement. That tired, helpless condition, feeling like a leaden ball when using the Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will sharpen a failing appetite; it aids digestion; it will strengthen the weakened kidneys and heart by simply rebuilding the worn out nerves that these organs depend upon. Take it a few days and be convinced. Sold by Red Cross Drug Store.

Best Words Affords

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Carroll Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it is the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn, or wound to which it is applied. 25c at Hayden & Robertson's drug store."

Whitewashing Fruit Trees.

Whitewashing fruit trees is a good practice. Lime is a wholesome agent to defend trees as well as other things from various insects and some other pests. Before whitewashing the trees bark should be rubbed or scraped off. The whitewash should be made of lime and water, and it should be applied in the early morning. The whitewash will not only be helpful in promoting the growth of the tree, but will also protect the tree from insects which prey upon it.

Charred Cobs For Fishes.

The fish-plate has been used as a pile of charred cobs or dry wood ashes, and it is beneficial in correcting the acids in the blood. The elements which go into building animals are imparted to the food, and it is quite as important to get rid of the waste as it is to get the food. Charcoal will also tend to prevent worms in hogs and cattle.

A Roundabout Reply.

"Darling," said a young husband, "what would you do if I should tell you?"

"Please don't suggest such a thing," was the reply. "I can't bear the thought of a stepfather for our little boy."

Unselfish.

She-George, is that one of those citizens I see you say 'twice' every day? He-Yes, I'm saying those to my friends. She-You dear, self-sacrificing, unselfish man!

When a man borrows trouble, the first step is to put the principal—Kansas City Star.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Dean of the Senate.

The recent victory of Senator William H. Aldrich over Governor A. B. Cushman in the lower passage of the tariff bill, the veteran statesman of election for a seventh successive term in the United States Senate.

Senator Aldrich's career has been a very long one. When his present term of office expires in March next he will be one day over eighty years of age and will have served in the national legislature for more than thirty years of them continuously in the Senate. He entered congress as representative

Advantages of Clipping.

The advantages of clipping the farm horses are found not only in the greater comfort and ease with which they will do the work, but also in the fact that when the day's work is over they will dry off very quickly, thus being in a condition in which the dust and dirt from the day's work will be brushed off and the horse made perfectly clean for a good night's rest.

Not only are there greater comfort and a better physical condition in the case of the clipped horse, but there is also a danger from scold and shivers and from barnyard galls, and the clipped horse, always being dry at night, is less liable to get cold, will work more easily and keep in good condition, and may be done by any farmer of ordinary skill, and a good machine should not be an ordinary farm a second year. Really, the only difficult part of the whole work is in making up one's mind to do it.—American Cultivator.

Starting a Sheep Flock.

To the average farmer there is no better way to get a first class flock of sheep than by keeping the best ewes and breeding to a ram of quality. In the course of a few years the flock will be of very good quality, while the poorest stock will be as good as the best of the flock. The best have been sold of each year. Many a man has taken even the scrub varieties of sheep and by using a pure breed ram, and keeping the best from his property has in a few years built up a flock of virtually pure bred sheep. It is only in the sections of country where little attention is paid to sheep breeding that men would think of letting go of the best ewes for any reasonable price.

Melasses For Horses.

The Louisiana experiment station reports that the use of molasses for horses is in spite of many reports favorable to the use of molasses for horses, the writer is not so sure. The recommendation to northern farmers is to use molasses in place of the cereals and their byproducts. As an appetizer for horses and as a tonic, molasses is a colic preventive and for improving the palatability of rations, two to three pounds daily of molasses will undoubtedly prove productive of satisfactory results.

A Bath Month.

Apparently the people of Persia are not great believers in the old maxim "Cleanliness is next to godliness," for baths are only taken once a month by the people, when they go to the public baths and make amends, so to speak, for the infrequency of their ablutions by spending a whole day getting cleaned and trimmed. At the baths they are washed, shaved, dry their hair and get a massage and spend the rest of the day eating, drinking and drinking.

Thought Only of the Dynamite.

Some grim stories are told of Lord Kitchener, says the United States Gazette, and we have read one which, although we cannot credit for the truth of it, has a decided Kitchener flavor about it. A young subaltern who was a charge of some works that were under construction in the Punjab and the unfortunate to lose some money, was told by the Kitchener that he should be sold ready made at 20c each. Morning Gown, California, both sides at 30c a piece, blue check and white check, the Kitchener ready made. Superb black cloth at 10c per yard.—Pittsburgh Courier.

Tea Table Etiquette.

A hundred years or more ago there was a quality to the tea etiquette. It was considered a mark of courtesy to take much cream or sugar in one's tea. Etiquette of the tea table should be based on the fact that the tea should be taken from the spoon and that the hostess should then inquire, "Is your tea agreeable?" Modern women would be shocked by a fashionable lady of those days who cooled her tea with her breath, yet young women of a certain class are still doing so.

A City and Its Press.

In some respects a modern city reveals a real commercial center. In commerce and the most successful of the modern city is the capital of the newspapers. And here Berlin is lacking. Her press is on a hopelessly low level, impoverished, without enterprise, poor in the number of the authorities. In London, New York and Paris the press has a voice in the running of the city.—London Outlook.

War Against Consumption.

All nations are endeavoring to check the ravages of consumption, the white plague that claims so many victims each year. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds perfectly and you are in no danger of consumption. Do not risk your health by taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar is safe and certain in results. Hayden & Robertson.

TIME AT THE POLES.

It is Practically Any Hour of the Day You Please.

Those who are conversant with the use of globes know that all the meridians of longitude starting from the equator converge toward and meet at the poles. They know, too, that longitude signifies time and that difference of longitude is measured in time. They know very well that when it is noon in London it is about 7 o'clock in the morning in Boston, and that when it is noon in San Francisco it is about a quarter past 3 in the afternoon in New York.

A POET'S DIET.

Byron's Strangest Attempt to Keep Himself From Getting Fat.

"You mention Browning's idea that starvation was the cure for all the ills of the flesh—his own, at any rate," says a correspondent. "Browning was a poet, and a poet's diet is a very different thing from a poet's diet. One of Byron's chief fears was that of becoming fat, and to keep his figure in the best of order he followed a very strict diet. At Athens he lived mainly on rice and vinegar and water. Later he confined himself to lettuce and cold tea. In 1816 he had so restricted his diet that he was obliged to keep down hunger by chewing mastic and tobacco. 'Don Juan' was 'written on gin and water.'"
